

I believe that Satellite Radio offers a service that no other broadcaster can do. Fulfilling the needs of listeners is what the FCC should be about. New technology should not be hampered by the traditional sources that have not lived up to the public's expectation. The public should be served without infringing on a service which is their right to receive. The Broadcasters organization has a tradition of being against TV, FM and new forms of entertainment while losing out on the opportunity to give what the public desires. The public is entitled to the benefits of Satellite and should allow its ability to expand. The Freedom of the American Airwaves is a Constitutional Right
